

*Gardening
Planner*

The PLANTY THINGS Place
DISCOVER · GROW · SHARE

*Happy
gardening!*

A gardening planner can help you stay organized and on track throughout the growing season. By keeping track of your planting schedule, observations, and harvest, you can learn from your experiences and improve your gardening skills each year.

- Identify the location of your garden and its dimensions
- Determine the types of plants you want to grow
- Research the ideal planting times for each type of plant in your area
- Make a planting schedule for each plant, including planting dates and expected harvest dates
- Plan your garden layout, taking into account the spacing requirements of each plant
- Make a list of necessary tools, supplies, and materials

- Write down the date you planted each type of plant
- Write down the expected germination date for each type of plant
- Write down the expected harvest date for each type of plant
- Track any changes to your planting schedule, such as delays or early plantings

Monday

Tuesday

Wednesday

Thursday

Friday

Saturday

Sunday

- Write down the weather conditions on a daily basis
- Monitor the growth and development of your plants
- Write down any issues or problems with your plants, such as pest infestations or disease
- Take photos of your garden throughout the season to track progress

- Write down the date and amount of each harvest
- Keep track of which plants produced the most yield
- Note any issues or problems encountered during the harvest

- Reflect on your gardening season
- Write down your successes and failures
- Evaluate your garden layout and planting schedule
- Make notes on any changes you want to make for the following season

